

"An author knows his landscape best; he can stand around, smell the wind, get a feel for his place." - Tony Hillerman

SETTING

Setting is important to a narrative. Think about horror stories – they don't usually take place at midday on a sunny day! They are usually set late at night on a stormy evening – why?

The time and place in which the events of a work of literature take place.